

Composer visits pupils

WRITTEN BY
ANDY
TYLER

Email: newsdesk@lynnnews.co.uk
Twitter: @TheLynnNews

It's always great to report the enjoyment and appreciation of youngsters when talented and interesting visitors come to their school and perform, or give presentations illustrating their work.

Such a visit was recently made at West Lynn Primary School by guitarist and composer Laura Snowden. Laura is also a songwriter and folk musician, having performed and broadcast widely. She performed and spoke to an audience of 7-11 year olds, involving them in the entertaining session and asking for their reaction to the music they heard. Both children and adults present seemed to enjoy the gig!

■ The organisation with charitable status, 'Classical Music Rocks', organised the event at West Lynn Primary School, and was formed to bring the appreciation and performance of classical music to children of primary school age. It operates within West Norfolk. To support the organisation please visit: cmrschoolswestnorfolk.com