THE SAGE FAMILY DIE! MASSIVE NUMBERS LOST! WHO'S AT FAULT? MAYBE CAPTAIN?

By Amos

On April 15th 1912, the 'UNSINKABLE SHIP' (A.K.A the Titanic) hit an iceberg and began to be swamped by the Atlantic Ocean. On board were the Sage family and when the boat sank they all sadly died.

The Sages were from West Lynn where, for 9 months, they owned the pub called 'The Bentick Arms', the building is still standing in the village today.

This family were going on the Titanic to reach America and live and work on a farm because they wanted to grow pecans and fruit.

On the Titanic they had third class tickets which meant that they had standard comfort and were only given the basics.

When the Titanic sent up a warning flare the captain of a nearby ship ignored them and so the Titanic was sent no assistance. The ship sunk but in the commotion the family was separated and Stella Ann Sage was offered a place on the lifeboat but she got off when she found out that her family wasn't on board.

The only member of the Sage family found was that of Anthony William Sage.
